

Membership data and right to be informed

Under the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) the WEEMG is obliged to process its membership records fairly (known as 'fair processing information') and to be transparent with its members in how it uses their personal data. Members have a right to be informed about the data we hold on them.

Our membership database records usually contain no more information than each member's name, organisation, address, telephone number and email address. Some records may be annotated with administrative information such as membership of the EEMG's Executive Committee or whether the annual membership subscription has been paid.

If there is specific personal information about you that you do not want the EEMG to hold within its membership records please advise us and make your request to the Chairman.

We do not pass members' personal details on to third parties; they are held and only shared within the Group's committee members as designated for specific group administration purposes such as administering our invitations for our events, sending out newsletters and for the collection of membership subscriptions.

Tim Linford 25 May 2018